Experts talking to experts: solutions that are tailor-made for your board and its objectives

No-one has greater power and opportunity to effect change and transform a good organisation into a great one than the members of a board. At TL First we work with many public sector boards and top management teams to help them raise their game and operate more effectively. We work at the centre of government and have unparalleled access to new initiatives, thinking and practice in all aspects of reform and transformation of public services. We understand this environment because we're part of it and quite simply we know what works and what doesn't. All programmes are delivered by people who are not only skilled facilitators, but who have also served on Boards of major organisations

Real life case studies and real time tours to the heart of government

The programme offer you good practice ideas on all aspects of board effectiveness and governance, opportunities to network, share experience and knowledge, and visits to organisations, government offices and the houses of parliament to put in context some of the areas and case studies considered.

Methodology and approach

Programmes are designed to be highly interactive and to concentrate on giving you a real understanding of the issues under discussion. Our method is to deliver short and concentrated workshops which are given focus as a result of understanding the culture, structure, issues and desired outcomes of your organisation.

Outcomes:

By the end of the programme, you would have built upon your knowledge and experience the key levers to make your board exceptional, the challenges faced by your board and how they should be addressed, how to maximise the strengths, skills and experience of your board members, and how to optimise your relationships with government ministers and politicians. All board members will also get a better appreciation of boardroom working, shared focus and the differing conduct of successful and unsuccessful boards, and how to develop a winning boardroom team.
